The term double-pane refers to a window that has two pieces of glass, while low-e is a coating technique. Double-pane windows can be clear, tinted or have a low-e coating. You can have glass with or without a low-e coating. However, low-e coating is not a standalone material. It requires a sheet of glass as a base material for its

A double-pane window has two sheets of glass and a gap of air in between the panes. Double-pane windows increase the energy efficiency of homes, because the panels set up a barrier to reduce heat loss in winter and heat gain in the summer. The panes are typically separated by a gap that measures from
